

Dehumidifiers are great appliances that can reduce indoor humidity. However, that isn't all that they do. Check out this guide by the pros at Mattioni and learn about why you should get a dehumidifier for your home.

1. HELPS YOU CONTROL HUMIDITY

Dehumidifiers help you keep a control on the humidity in your home. The ideal humidity in a home is between 30 and 50%. Dehumidifiers will help you keep indoor humidity exactly within that range. While there are other measures you can take to reduce humidity, using a dehumidifier provides a greater deal of surety and control.

2. PREVENTS MOLD GROWTH

Mold is a fungus that grows in primarily damp and humid areas, specifically bathrooms, kitchens, crawl spaces and basements. A dehumidifier allows you to control and reduce humidity, which in turn prevents the likelihood of mold growth. If you are worried about moisture increase and mold growth in specific parts of your home, you can always get a smaller, more portable dehumidifier.

3. IMPROVES INDOOR AIR QUALITY

Humidity can lead to an increase in certain toxins and allergens such as dust mites and mold spores. By reducing humidity using a dehumidifier, you can also improve indoor air quality. Greater indoor air quality leads to greater comfort and easier breathing.

4. PREVENTS AC FROM BEING OVERWORKED

Your air conditioner is not only trying to remove heat from indoor air but excess moisture as well. When there is a lot of humidity indoors, your AC must work harder to remove it. By getting a dehumidifier, you will ease the burden on your AC, which will prevent it from running overtime and being overworked.

5. REDUCTION OF ODORS

If you have dealt with humidity related issues before, you know there is a musty sort of odor associated with it. By using a dehumidifier and properly ventilating your home, you can prevent these odors as well, making the air in your home fresher.

6. THEY ARE NOT DISRUPTIVE

If you choose the right dehumidifier, you can take comfort in knowing that these are generally not disruptive appliances. Dehumidifiers are quiet, come with portable options and make it easier to drain away any condensation. They are versatile and easy to use!
